In the new movie The Hulk (based on the Marvel Comics character), scientist Bruce Banner becomes the victim of a lab experiment that's gone haywire. So, every time he gets ticked off, his eyes bulge, his skin stretches and his muscles burst out of his clothes!

You may think being a 10-foot-tall superstrong monster is pretty cool. But even the Hulk has his bad days. Take a look at some of the best and worst things about being "mean and green."

TEN BEST Things About Being the HULK

- 10 You're always chosen first for football games.
  - 9 One look from you tells school bullies, "There's a new sheriff in town."
  - 8 You do not need to spend a lot of time fixing your hair.
  - 7 The lovely green color is great camouflage for outdoor hide-and-seek games.
    6 Eating contests they're no contest!
    - b Eating contests they're no contest!
    - 5 You never have to worry about who'll sit next to you on the bus.
  - You could go on American Idol, and no matter how bad you were, Simon wouldn't say squat!
     If someone starts to annoy you, all you have to say is, "You won't like me
  - when I'm angry."

    2 You'll never be forced to take ballet classes.
  - 1 Your older brother is no longer your "big" brother.

summer's biggest movies. MEET THE HULK.

10 "Time-outs" never work and stop your anger.

9 Pants rip at the most embarrassing moments.

Parits np at the most emparrassing moments.
 Even the Super Size meal isn't enough to fill you up.

- 7 Lack of cool shoes in size 35EEEE means you have to play sports barrifoot.
- 6 It's tough to find a spot for you in the marching band.
- 5 You get tired of everyone asking if you're a linemar for the Green Bay Packers.
- 4 It's humiliating being grounded for throwing tanks.

  3 Mom's always asking you to move furniture for her!
- Your prom date pretty much has to wear green.
   Three words: Astronomical clothing costs.

Yep, as Legolas in The Lord of the Rilngs movies, he shoots a mean bow and arrow — and this summer, he'll wow you with his pirate power. We're talking about Orlando Bloom, the star of Disney's new sea adventure, Pirates of the Caribbean: The Curse of the Black Pearl.

Orlando tops your list of favorite movie stars. (You sent us 300 letters with questions for him!) We caught up with Orlando on the set of Pirates (out in the ocean)! He told us he was learning to swing on ropes and that he never got seasick.

We shot Orlando an e-mail with some of your questions. Here's what he sent back:

They're headed your way — the great cavalcade of summer movies is here! If you've been paying attention to movie trailers, you might know what to expect before you plunk down your popcorn money.

See if you're clued-in: Match the movie clues with the titles below. Then check to see if you were super clued-in or clueless!

THE CLUES

- 1. The family dog speaks for the first time and sounds like actor Bruce Willis!
- 2. When they're mad, most people see red but when this guy's mad he sees green (and so does everyone else)!
- Eddie Murphy spends a lot of time potty training toddlers.
- 4. This movie features characters and creatures introduced in the legendary tales from the Thousand and One Nights classics.
- 5. It's not just a movie, it's a theme park ride!
- 6. The plot: Boy gets in trouble, boy digs holes, boy finds something very interesting!
- Powerful dudes like Colossus, Gambit and Iceman rule in this superhero sequel.
- 8. Look out for strange characters with stranger names: Latias, Latios and Zanna.

We kicked off the second year of our All-Stars program with the kids from Disney Channel's That's So Raven who volunteered to clean up the beach in their community. After the cleanup was done, we caught up with Raven, Orlando Brown (who plays Eddie, Rayen's friend), Kyle Orlando Massey (Cory, Rayen's brother) and Anneliese van der Pol (Raven's friend Chelsea).

Here's what they had to say about getting involved in their neighborhood.

Teil us about your volunteer project. Raven: We cleaned up trash, painted some garbage cans and made Venice Beach [a section of Los Angeles] a little nicer. It got me inspired to do even more.

Anneliese van der Pol: I started off by first picking up and recycling trash. And then later on I painted trash cans with Raven. So who's the best garbage-can painter? Raven: Oh me! It took me only five minutes to paint a trash can.

Raven: I volunteer for Inner-City Games. I go all around the country with them to talk to kids about tearmwork, believing in yourself and staying in school. And if you help one person, you never know how many people that person will help, and then you have started a whole chain of "helpingness." Orlando Brown: Yes - after school, my friends and I used to dash over to the nark and help out. We'd sort out who would do what - like who would lifequard at the nool and (who would) look after the backetball court Anneliese: I've gone to homeless shelters to sing and do performances. I've been doing things like this since I was around 10 years old.

Kyle Orlando Massey: My friends and I picked up trash in our neighborhood in Atlanta (Georgia).

What are some projects you could suggest to kids reading this?

Raven: Gather some friends and a parent and clean up your local park! Or go to a shelter to help feed the homeless. Orlando: They can go to parks and volunteer. And they can also go to a senior citizens home and see if help is needed.

What are some tips on having fun when volunteering?

Raven: Bring a whole bunch of friends and make a game out of it. Don't be all snobby and think like. "Oh. it's trash." Just put on some gloves and have fun. Orlando: Volunteering already is fun, because it's volunteering - it's optional. You don't have to do it, but you do it anyway and that really says something about your character, It makes you feel good, which is where Anneliese: If you volunteer with people that share the same ideas about helping, you really feel like you're making a difference. And that's fun.

See how these winners of the first-ever Disney Adventures All-Star contest showed their character.

Meet the Disney Adventures All-Stars! Picked from 3.325 entries and judged by a panel of experts - including the cast of Disney Channel's Lizzie McGuire - these kids all made a difference in their communities. Read on to see what they had to say about working hard to help others. (Hint: It makes you feel great!)

A sixth-grade social studies class at Stell Middle School in Brownsville, Texas, saw a problem with the streets surrounding their school. The sidewalks were so muddy that students had to walk in the streets - not safe!

When they studied the problem with their teacher, Mr. Martin Leal, the kids also found that there were no proper speed bumps. ramps or traffic lines In the road. The class. led by Xochilth R., 12, Israel A., 13, Navelli P., 12, Rolando C., 13, Erica G., 13, and Rogelio G., 13, presented the situation to the mayor and the City Council, and the city agreed to fix the problem. Go team!

What was the first thing you did to tackle the project? Xochilth R.: We had to do research, so we got the policy for the sidewalks and streets from City Hall. The policy was fine, but it wasn't

Was the project difficult to do? Xochilth R.: In the beginning it was, when we thought it wouldn't work. It seemed like we had nothing done, but little by little, we made progress.

being enforced well.

Was the end result more than what you imagined?

Xochith R.: Yes, even for Mr. Leal. He didn't think we could get this far – we showed him! Mr. Leal: The original plan was to fix the mud from running off the sidewalks and plant grass. And they did much more! They never gave up. They re all heart.

How do you feel now that you've completed the Team All-Star project?

Erica G.: We feel very proud of ourselves — it's awesome. Mr. Leal: Erica went outside when they started installing the speed bumps and said, "Wow, they listened to what we said." An 11-year-old got a big city to listen to her. That's a big deal.

Lilia W., 12, from Albert Lea. Minnesota, was upset that her neighborhood park was run-down and unsafe. She worked with her city councilman to make changes. The result? Lilia got her town to set aside $12,000 for playground equipment. Go Lilia!

Why did you choose this park as your project? Lilia: It was the nearest park to my home and my friends' homes. There was only a little dinky slide that was unsafe because it was so old and only How do you feel now that vou've completed the project? Lilia: I feel really good because it makes me feel like I can do something. I was determined and I didn't give up.

What's your favorite new thing in the park now? Lilia: I like the tire swing a lot. Every day I go spin around and get myself dizzy.

What sort of advice would you give other kids? Lilia: Don't give up. If you put your heart into it, you can do it.
